Our Mission

United Villages provides a phone number, email address, and basic Internet access for people living in rural areas.

United Villages is the only company dedicated to providing information and communications services exclusively for rural India. We specifically develop our services to meet your needs.

We welcome you to join our Orissa network and explore a whole new world of information, convenience, and opportunity!

Our Network

United Villages is building the largest rural Internet Service Provider network to service over 220,000 villages throughout rural India. We combine the latest wireless broadband technologies with physical road transport to provide the most affordable messaging and Internet services in rural India.

We call it a "DakNet" because it's like an electronic postal network using buses, motorcycles, and trucks designated with the United Villages logo. These DakNet vehicles drive through your village and automatically transport messages all over India using our wireless technology. So wherever there's a road, look out for a DakNet!

Our Orissa network uses Bhubaneswar as the communications backbone and extends connectivity out to villages beyond the reach of cellular services.
